This processing of information applies to both our online and off line work practices.

By disclosing your Customer Data to Hastings you indicate your consent to the collection, storage, processing and use of your Customer Data by us as described in this Privacy Statement.

Disclosure of Customer Data

Hastings considers your Customer Data to be private and confidential. Hastings may sometimes disclose information about you to agents or service providers appointed by us, regulatory bodies, other insurance companies and others who work for us in connection with the provision of services to you. Hastings may access and/or disclose your Customer Data if required to do so by law or in the good faith and belief that such action is necessary to: (a) conform with the law or comply with legal process served on Hastings (b) protect and defend the rights or property of Hastings including, without limitation the security and integrity of our network; or (c) act under exigent circumstances to protect the personal safety of users of our services or members of the public.

Access to and Rectification of Data

You are entitled to copies of your Customer Data held by us as the data controller. We will provide you with a copy of the Customer Data kept by us as soon as may be and in any event not more than 40 days after the request in writing. All requests should be addressed to the Data Protection Officer, Hastings (Westport) Ltd, The Octagon, Westport, Co Mayo on payment of a fee of €6.35. If the information we hold about you is inaccurate, please let us know and we will make the necessary amendments and confirm that these have been made within 40 days of receipt of your request. We will only hold on to your Customer Data for as long as necessary for the purposes of providing insurance products and related services to you, or if you do not become an insured, or cease to be an insured, for the purposes of informing you of products or services offered by us in the future.

Security of Data

Hastings is committed to protecting the security of your personal information. We use a variety of security technologies and procedures to help protect your data from unauthorized access, alteration, accidental loss or destruction. For example, we store the personal information you provide on computer systems with limited access, which are located in controlled facilities. When we transmit highly confidential information, such as a credit card number, over the internet, we protect it through the use of encryption and secure servers. As effective a modern security practices are, we cannot guarantee the complete security of our database, nor can we guarantee that information you supply won't be intercepted while being transmitted to us over the Internet. We will continue to revise policies and implement additional security features as new technologies become available.

Use of Cookies

"Cookies" are small text files sent from a website to the hard drive of a user's computer to store bits of information related to that user. Cookies can store information about users, including IP addresses, navigational data, server information, data transfer times, user preferences, and passwords needed to access the special areas of a site. At present Hastings does not use Cookies for the purpose of storing and retrieving session information in our Systems. No Customer Data or Sensitive Data is stored in this way.
